In support of:

GREEN PLAN

Deputy Prime Minister Heng Swee Keat and partners at the launch of Go Green SG 2024

What is Go Green SG?

Led by the Ministry of Sustainability and the Environment (MSE), Go Green SG is a national movement to rally the community to take collective action towards a more environmentally sustainable and climate-resilient Singapore. Under Go Green SG, partners from across the People, Private and Public (3P) sectors organise a wide array of sustainability-related activities to raise public awareness on climate change, foster ground support for sustainability efforts, and engender behavioural change. These activities include learning journeys, tours, talks and hands-on workshops on building a clean environment, with clean water and safe food.

In 2024, Go Green SG saw:

Why Go Green SG?

The impacts of climate change are already upon us.

Collectively, the 3P sectors are taking steps to address climate change through innovative solutions. We all have a part to play in taking care of our environment. Through our daily actions, we can build a more sustainable Singapore for ourselves and our future generations.

By supporting Go Green SG 2025 with your activities and programmes, the public can learn about environmental sustainability and be inspired and empowered to go a little greener, every day.

Go Green SG 2025

Go Green SG 2025 will run from 16 May to 29 June. It will feature a diverse slate of sustainability-related activities, programmes, and experiences curated by our 3P partners.

2025 marks Singapore's 60th year of independence. SG60 is a significant milestone and will be an opportunity for Singaporeans to celebrate our nation-building journey, reflect on our shared values, renew our commitment to Singapore and build our shared future together.

Go Green SG is an official SG60 programme. We welcome partners to contribute to this collective national effort by infusing your Go Green SG activities with the SG60 elements of Connect, Contribute and Care:

- Connect:
 - Create a spectrum of opportunities for participants to meet with others across different backgrounds (e.g., age, race, religion, socio-economic status)
 - Increase in numbers so that more people can participate in programmes, and
 - Diversify range of audiences
- Contribute: Provide opportunities for citizens to partner with one another to co-create SG60 programmes together
- Care: Provide opportunities for citizens to show care through giving or volunteering

How can I join Go Green SG 2025?

Here are some examples of activities you can organise for the public:

- Guided tours, workshops and talks to equip participants with skills and knowledge in environmental sustainability.
- Promotions and discounts on green products (e.g., discount on water, energy efficient appliances) and services (e.g., discount on greener modes of transport).
- Green challenges and initiatives (e.g., encourage recycle right practices, reduce the use of disposables, support local produce) to rally the community to take collective action.
- Community activities to engage the public to keep public spaces clean and green, such as litter-picking.
- Learning journeys to your sustainable facilities and/or back-of-house operations.
- (For premise owners) Practise green habits such as turning off non-essential lights and adjusting air-conditioning temperature to 25°C.

You can also organise activities to engage your employees and internal stakeholders during Go Green SG 2025. Examples include:

- Reduce resource and energy consumption on premises.
- Volunteer with an environmental non-governmental organisations (NGO).
- Organise sustainability-related events such as recycling drives, competitions or litter-picking activities.
- Encourage BYO (Bring-Your-Own) practices, such as bringing their own cutlery, at internal staff events.
- Plant trees under the national OneMillionTrees movement.

Basic household green containers, parks, common and wet areas? There are some common culprits that cause sewer clogs resulting in odours and overflows.

Through the national activities to go green as far as possible, it's the best response team attends to the backlog as soon as it can get going.

Using smart tools that can fit into narrow pipes, the public can watch into the sewer and bank some observations with a special app to clear the area.

In fact, the public will be able to watch the team carry out a mock clearance of sewers at 1000 Hopper Road.

This is followed by a guided tour of the nearby 100 Hopper Road, the new 1000 Hopper Road, where the public can learn how to prevent sewer clogs.

100 Hopper Road will also discuss urban how a smart-controlled closed-loop drainage system, used to inspect sewers for defects and blockages.

They are among the line of activities that will be part of Go Green SG, a major green-themed event for the National Parks Board and the Environmental Council to rally citizens, organisations and the community to make Singapore a greener, livable and climate-resilient nation.

Other activities include a visit to the Conservation Island, Singapore's largest green island, where participants can enjoy a guided tour of the island and learn about its rich biodiversity and the island's role in Singapore's green future.

The 2024 edition of Go Green SG will see more than 100 activities to be held in various locations across the island, including community clean-ups, sustainability tours and farmer's markets.

These include a beach clean-up and an educational talk on water conservation and sustainable living. Participants can also create art from plastic bottles and other waste materials.

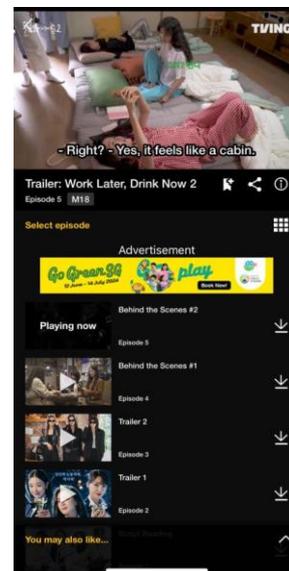

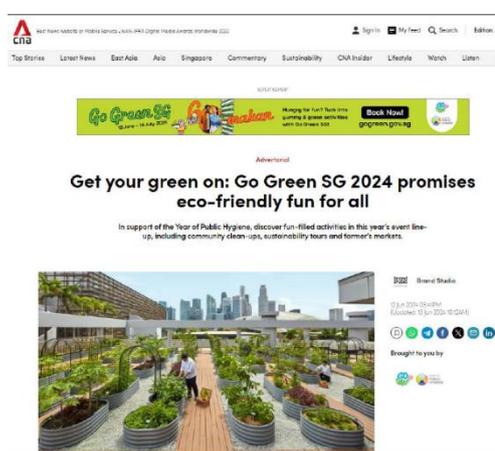

Participants can also learn about the importance of water conservation and sustainable living. They can also learn about the importance of recycling and how to properly dispose of waste.

We believe that a tiny step taken today to do right by our environment, when multiplied by a million and more times, can be a powerful force for change.

What support is available?

Content

If you require sustainability content to engage your stakeholders, you can use the videos, publications, infographics and educational materials available on the Green Plan website and MSE's website.

Funding

The $50 million SG Eco Fund was set up in 2020 to support projects that advance environmental sustainability and involve the community. If you wish to embark on sustainability initiatives beyond Go Green SG 2025, you may apply for the SG Eco Fund. For more information, please write to SG_Eco_Fund@mse.gov.sg.

Branding

For cohesive branding across all our activities, we encourage you to use the Go Green SG logo in your marketing collaterals to co-brand your initiative with Go Green SG.

We also encourage you to tag @msesingapore and use the following campaign hashtags in your posts so we can easily locate and amplify them across our channels:

#GoGreenSG #SGGreenPlan

Partnership

In the spirit of 3P partnership, we encourage you to collaborate with other likeminded groups and individuals to organise activities / initiatives. Examples include:

Learnings from Go Green SG 2024

1) More activities that are new or exclusive to Go Green SG

Participants enjoy new or exclusive activities, or those offering a behind-the-scenes look at places that are not usually open to public. Such activities usually attract more sign-ups. You can consider organising site visits to your sustainability facilities or offer learning journeys on new trails.

For retail deals, you can consider offering promotions or discounts exclusively during the Go Green SG period.

2) Longer activity durations and more sessions

Interactive and engaging initiatives, such as tours and hands-on workshops, are popular amongst the public.

Do cater more runs and longer durations for such initiatives, if possible. Do consider setting aside resources for additional runs if there is high demand for your initiative.

3) Managing registration

Free activities are definitely popular, with most of them booked on the first day of registration. If you are offering free Go Green SG activities, we recommend staggering the registration for the later runs, to ensure a steady stream of activities available for sign-ups throughout the Go Green SG period.

Prices could be set on a nominal or cost-recovery basis if it is not possible to offer the activities for free.

Partners are to manage registration for your own activities. MSE will direct visitors to your registration link through the Go Green SG website.

4) Convenience and accessibility

Participants prefer activities that are held at an accessible location and at convenient timings or days. For activities at less accessible locations, you may wish to provide free transport for participants.

5) Public expectations

Participants expect partners to walk the talk* on sustainability. For example, as far as possible, bottled water should not be provided during the activity (participants can be reminded to bring their own water bottles) and indemnity forms should be digitalised. We strongly encourage all partners to adhere to the Best Practice Guide for organising environmentally friendly events.

Safeguarding against Greenwashing

Greenwashing happens when organisations market themselves as being more environmentally friendly than they actually are.
